Containing the freſheſt Advices foreign and domeſtic.

THURSDAY, September 15, 1757.

BIELEFIELD, June 14.

THE Duke of Cumberland is ſtill here, though he altered the Poſition of his Camp this Morning, by placing it between this Place and Hervord. His Royal Highneſs thought this Alteration neceſſary, in order to fruſtrate the Deſigns of the Enemy; who, not judging proper to attack upon this Side of the Brandewede, after having reconnoitred the Situation of our Camp ſeveral Days, made a Motion on their Left, as if they meant to go between us and the Weſer. It is impoſſible to tell whether Marſhal d'Etrees will attack us or not: The Movements his Army make ſo near us, induces to think he will attack; and the Want of Subſiſtence muſt at laſt oblige him to retreat or fight. However, we are prepared to receive him, and the heavy Baggage having been ſent away, we have now nothing left to incumber us in Action. We very well know that the Enemy's Army is ſuperior to us in Number; but we dare flatter ourſelves that we ſhall convince them, if they attack us, that the Valour of our Troops, the Juſtice of our Cauſe, and the Defence of our Country, will, in a good Meaſure, make Amends for our Want of Numbers.

From the French Camp at Rheda, June 14.

Yeſterday Marſhal d'Etrees, and the Prince de Soubize, after having reconnoitred the Duke of Cumberland's Army, reſolved to attack its Left Flank as ſoon as poſſible, and fixed upon the 18th Inſtant for the Execution of that Deſign; but the Duke of Cumberland perceiving that they were preparing to attack him, decamped Yeſterday Afternoon. As ſoon as we were appriſed of the Enemy's Departure, Marſhal d'Etrees ſent a conſiderable Detachment, under the Command of Prince de Beauveau, who marched all Night, and at Day-break attacked the Poſt which the Enemy had left at Bielefeld to cover their Retreat. The Count de Chabot, who commanded this Attack, behaved extremely well, and forced the Enemy to give Way, and they abandoned ſeveral Baggage Waggons, and had ſeveral of their Men made Priſoners. The Prince de Beauveau did not come up till the Action was almoſt over; but he writes from Bielefeld, that he is advancing upon the Enemy half-way towards Herworden, which is the Route they have taken.

Munſter, June 14. The French have come to Blows with the Hanoverians, and the latter have been obliged to retire in Diſorder beyond the Weſer. We have not yet an exact Account of this Affair. What follows is collected from ſome Letters dated from the Neighbourhood of the Field of Battle.

"The 13th, in the Evening, Colonel Fiſcher, with his Corps, and ſome Detachments of Grenadiers, attacked Bielefeld. At the Beginning he found but little Reſiſtance; but the Pruſſians, of the left Wing of the Duke of Cumberland's Army, threw a Reinforcement into it, who made a brave Defence. At break of Day that left Wing, conſiſting of Pruſſians, Heſſians, and Brunſwickers, was attacked, defeated, and driven out of Bielefield, after a vigorous Reſiſtance. The Right Wing, conſiſting of Hanoverians, run away juſt at the ſame Time. Immediately after the Action, the French ſeized upon Bielefield, and went to pitch their Tents on the Spot from whence they had driven the Allies. As yet we cannot write any Thing certain about the Loſs on both Sides: We only know that the French took ten Pieces of Cannon, and ſome Ammunition Waggons; and it is ſaid they have not loſt any Officer of Note: But on the Side of the Vanquiſhed, we reckon among the Dead, divers Officers of Rank, particularly the Generals Einſiedel, and Junckheim."

On the 15th, the French made themſelves Maſters of Hervord, and plundered that Town, becauſe the Inhabitants had been ſo imprudent as to take up Arms in Defence of ſome Troops of the confederate Army that had thrown themſelves into it. It is reckoned that they will enter the Town of Minder this Day. Thus they are on the Banks of the Weſer, within 4 or 5 Days March of the Capital of the Electorate of Hanover.

Extract of a Letter from Paderborn, June 12.

"The Hanoverians who were in the Neighbourhood of Bielefield, decamped on the 13th at Three in the Afternoon. The Prince de Soubize, at the Head of the Royal Grenadiers, fell upon their Rear, ſeized the Town of Bielefield, took 10 Pieces of Cannon, and a large Magazine, to which the Hanoverians had ſet Fire, but was not entirely conſumed. Six Hundred Hanoverians were killed, and 80 made Priſoners. The French loſt 72 Men, including 2 Officers. Colonel Fiſcher has already laid the Electorate of Hanover, for 15 Leagues round him, under Contribution."

Extract of a Letter from Cologn, June 17.

From the French Head Quarters at Rheda we have received the following Advices, dated the 14th at Noon.

"Captain Feuillette, has juſt now brought Marſhal d'Etrees the agreeable News, that at One this Morning, the Count de Chabot attacked the Rear of the Enemy in their Retreat from Bielefield, which Town he forced Sword in Hand, after a vigorous Reſiſtance. The Corps of Voluntiers performed Prodigies of Valour, having all the Grenadiers to make head againſt. The Dragoons and Foot are rich with the Booty. They have got fine Hollands, and Engliſh Watches in Abundance. Our People were happy enough to extinguiſh the Fire which the Enemy had ſet to their Magazines of Forage. We had 1 Officer killed, 5 wounded, and 16 common Men, and ſeveral Horſes killed. The Loſs of the Enemy amounts to 15 Officers killed, Pruſſians and Hanoverians; and 40 wounded; 200 Soldiers killed, 150 wounded, and upwards of 300 Deſerters, moſt of them Pruſſians. When Captain Feuillette came away, which was at ſix in the Morning, the Prince de Beauveau was come up with 15 Companies of Grenadiers, 15 Piquets, and 100 Horſe, to continue their Purſuit. Count Turpin, and Col. Fiſcher were not idle."

Marſhal Keith's Camp before Prague, May 26.

Our Corps under the Command of Marſhal Keith, the Prince of Pruſſia, Prince Ferdinand, the Prince of Anhalt, Deſſau, and the hereditary Prince of Heſſe Darmſtat, inveſts what is called the little Part of Prague, ſituate on this Side the Moldau. Our Right Wing extends to St. Lawrence Hill, which in ſome Meaſure commands the White Hill. Our Left Wing faces the large Plain, which runs along the Moldau towards Ratſchin. The Enemy occupy ſtrong Ramparts in this Plain oppoſite to Belvedere and the Park. Some of their Regiments of Foot are encamped in Tents upon the principal Rampart.

The Army commanded by the King in Perſon, on the other Side of the Moldau, very cloſely inveſts the Reſt of Prague. If we would take by Attack this Place which is defended by a whole Army, we muſt loſe a Multitude of brave Men whom the King loves, and whoſe Lives he deſires to ſpare. A formal Siege, or the reducing it by Famine, would be too tedious. To force it to a ſpeedy Surrender there remains only Bombardment, which as we advance becomes more and more terrible. We have erected four Batteries of Mortars which throw in 288 Bombs every 24 Hours. The oppoſite Side of the Town is heated with red-hot Bullets. We learn from the Deſerters, who make their Eſcape to us in Crowds, that the Garriſon is in Want of Butcher's Meat and Forage, and ill provided with Cannon and Stores. They have no 24 Pounders, and very few 12 Pounders. Their heavy Cannon was carried to the Fortreſſes in Moravia.

The Ramparts of Prague ſwarm with Soldiers, and 12,000 Horſe are diſperſed in the Squares and Streets; but the Forage draws to an End. We have burnt Strockhof and all the Gardens and Country Houſes in the Neighbourhood of the Town.

Our Circumſtances of the Battle on the 6th, which regards Prince Henry, we cannot omit. When the brave Schwerin fell, this young Hero, making his Grief give Way to his Courage, ſaid to thoſe who were about him, 'Let's ſhew that we were worthy to ſerve with him.' Alighting from his Horſe, he put himſelf at the Head of his Brigade, and was the firſt who clambered up a Hill, and took Poſſeſſion of that Battery which had moſt incommoded us. After this, the attacking the Auſtrian Camp, fortified by Nature and Art, appeared more practicable. As to the Reſt, we ought not to rob the Enemy's Cavalry of the due Praiſe they merited. Their Infantry behaved well. Their Huſſars only have degenerated; they can no longer ſtand before ours.

Paris, June 10. The Army under the Command of the Marſhal d'Etrees conſiſts of 110,405 Combatants, viz. 86,835 Infantry, and 23,570 Cavalry, Dragoons, and Huſſars.

Bruſſels, June 15. A Column of French Troops will ſpeedily paſs by this City, in order to join the Army under Marſhal d'Etrees, in Weſtphalia. This Column is to conſiſt of the Regiment of Wittmer, Swiſs; 12 Battalions of Militia, of 650 Men each; the Regiments of Berchini, Terpin, and Polleriſki, Huſſars; and two Regiments of Voluntiers, of Flanders, and Hamault.——June 20. We juſt hear that an Engliſh Man of War, and 4 Frigates, are arrived in the Port of Embden.

Berlin, June 16. According to the laſt Letters received here from the King's Army before Prague, which are dated the 11th Inſtant, they continued to bombard the Place very vigorouſly, and the Miſery of the Place daily encreaſes, through Want of Fleſh-Meat and Forage: And yet its numerous Garriſon remain very quiet, not daring to make any new Attempt to force their Way out; whilſt, on the other Hand, the Army of Field Marſhal Daun, inſtead of advancing upon the beſieging Army, retreats ſtill further towards Moravia.

Paris, June 17. The Prince de Soubize is appointed by the King to command the Army aſſembling in Alſace, and as there are great Numbers of General Officers in the Army upon the Lower Rhine, ſome of them are likewiſe to go to that of Alſace, which will conſiſt of 30,000 Men, and is to march towards Bohemia, in order to encourage the Circles of the Empire to ſend their Contingents, and to protect them in their March.

We have received Advice that the Squadron of M. de Beaufremont, and that of M. du Roveſt, have joined that of M. de la Motte, at Louiſburg.

Dantzick, June 4. Two Ruſſian Men of War, which cruize off the Ports of Pilau and Memel, arrived here on Friday, and examine every Veſſel that goes out or comes in. Thoſe that belong to Pruſſia, or have the Produce of the King of Pruſſia's Dominions on board, are declared by them legal Prizes.

Paris, May 14. We are aſſured that the Fellow in the thread-bare brown Coat, &c. (mentioned in the Trial of Damiens) has been apprehended at Aix la Chapelle, having been diſcovered by the Deſcription which Damiens gave of him. They add, that when he was taken, they ript the Lining of his Coat, and found ſeveral Papers, among which there is a Colonel's Commiſſion in the Service of a foreign Power; and that he appears to be the Man that ſpirited up Damiens to murder the King. He is to be brought up to Town and examined before the Parliament. [We may eaſily Gueſs what will become of him and his Thread bare Coat.]

About the End of laſt Week an ill-looking Fellow was taken into Cuſtody, being found concealed in one of the Apartments that overlooks the great Garden at Verſailles: He has ſince been committed to Priſon. [What a Misfortune it is to have have an Ill-look, (or Look ill) in France! Ten to One but this Ill Looking Fellow will be Hang'd, or ſerv'd worſe.]

LONDON, June 18.

Laſt Saturday a Cauſe was tried by the ſpecial Jury of the King's Bench, at Guildhall, before the Right Hon. Lord Mansfield, Chief Juſtice, wherein a late Governor of one of our Iſlands in the Weſt-Indies was Plaintiff, and a Captain of a Man of War Defendant, for having criminal Converſation with the Plaintiff's Wife. The Jury brought in a Verdict for the Plaintiff, with One Thouſand Pounds Damages.

Letters from Sallee, in Morocco adviſe, that on the 15th of April, the whole Town was alarmed with the Shock of an Earthquake, which laſted about three Minutes, and made all the Inhabitants run into the Fields. Their Apprehenſions were the greater as they had been informed a few Days before, that ſome ſubterraneous Motions had done infinite Damage at Cape Cantin, in their Neighbourhood; that ſeveral dreadful Openings were made in the Earth; that many Buildings were thrown down, and between 2 and 3 Thouſand Perſons, ſwallowed up and buried in the Ruins.

Yeſterday was held a Common Council, at Guildhall, when Sir Thomas Harriſon the Chamberlain, acquainted the Court, that he waited the 24th of May, on the Right Hon. William Pitt, and Henry Bilſon Legge, Eſquires, and preſented the Freedom of that City in Gold Boxes, agreeable to the Reſolution of that Court of the 15th of April: He alſo delivered the Anſwers of thoſe Gentlemen, which they had given to him in Writing, and they being read, it was ordered they ſhould be inrolled in the Journals of the Court.

The Anſwer of the Right Hon. WILLIAM PITT, delivered to Sir Thomas Harriſon.

"Give me Leave, Sir, to requeſt the Favour of you, to preſent, in the moſt expreſſive Terms, to the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council of the City of London, the high Senſe I have of the diſtinguiſhed Honour they have been pleaſed to do me, in conferring on me the Freedom of the City.

"I have ever been zealouſly devoted to the Support of the Liberty, Trade, and Proſperity of that great and reſpectable Body; and I am now proud and happy to have ſuch Cauſe to add the Sentiments of trueſt Gratitude for ſo generous a Mark of their Favour, and for ſo unmerited an Approbation of my inſufficient Endeavours to carry into Effect the moſt gracious Intentions and paternal Care of his Majeſty, for the Preſervation and Happineſs of his People."

The Anſwer of the Right Hon. HENRY BILSON LEGGE.

"Give me Leave, Sir, to beg the Favour of you to return my ſincere Thanks, to the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Common Council of the City of London, for having admitted me to the Freedom of their Corporation.

"So eminent a Mark of Diſtinction, derived from the moſt reſpectable City in Europe, and to which ſo few have ever received the Honour of Admiſſion, cannot but fill my Heart with the higheſt Senſe of Gratitude and Regard; and though it far exceeds the bare Merit of meaning well, which is all I have to plead, muſt prove a ſtrong Incentive to thoſe, whom his Majeſty ſhall hereafter think fit to employ, to exert with equal Zeal, much greater Abilities in the Service of their Country.

"I hope every Part of my future Conduct, conſiſtently with that which I have hitherto endeavoured to hold, will ſhew my firm Attachment to the Rights and Privileges of my Fellow-Subjects, as well as to his Majeſty and his illuſtrious Family, upon whoſe Eſtabliſhment the Maintenance of thoſe Rights and Privileges does ſo eſſentially depend."

The Brig Weſt-India, Eaſtwell, with Salmon; the Cæſar, Mortimer, with Coals; the Dowry of Briſtol, with Tobacco; the Molly of Aberdeen, Silver, with Salmon; a Brig, Name and Voyage unknown; the Charming Nancy, Winthrop, with Coals, Lead, and Bale Goods; the Martha and Anne, Collins, for Newfoundland; the Lady Strange, Harriſon, from Liverpool to Barbados; a Snow with Salt, Name unknown; a Brig from Waterfordſhire to Newfoundland; the Induſtry, from Virginia, with 300 Hogſheads of Tobacco; the Seahorſe, Blair, of Philadelphia, from Newry; the Content, of Waterford, for Newfoundland; and the Edward, from Carolina, with Rice, Sugar, Indico, and Coffee, are all taken by French Privateers belonging to Bayonne.

June 25. A French Privateer of 12 Guns, and 100 Men, is taken by the Antient Briton, a Privateer of Briſtol, who parted with her at Sea.

Extract of a Letter from Portſmouth, June 24.

"This Day ſailed from Spithead the undermentioned Men of War (which are to cruize off Cape St. Vincent) viz. The Royal George, Admiral Boſcawen, who ran foul of the Ramillies, but did her no other Damage than carrying away her Jibb-Boom, and beating off ſome of her carved Work, Royal Sovereign, Namur, Torbay, Chicheſter, and Medway."

BOSTON, Auguſt 22.

Tueſday laſt the Great and General Court or Aſſembly met here, when his Excellency was pleaſed to make the following SPEECH to both Houſes, viz.

Gentlemen of the Council and Houſe of Repreſentatives,

HIS Majeſty having been graciouſly pleas'd to Commiſſion me to execute his Royal Powers, as by Charter eſtabliſhed in this Land, I can no other Way do my Duty than by faithfully following his Royal Example in a conſtant Attention to maintain public Truth and civil Liberty; and to promote Virtue, Order and Induſtry, the only Foundation of Happineſs either Public or Private.

In you, Gentlemen, I have the Pleaſure to meet the Body of the good People of this Land: To you therefore let me expreſs my high Reverence for the Power of Government as reſiding in the Magiſtrate, and for the ſacred Liberties that ſhould ever inviolably remain with the People: As I ſhall alway moſt faithfully maintain theſe Powers according to the Truſt repoſed in me, ſo ſhall I alway religiouſly obſerve your ever valuable Charter-Rights and Privileges.

The Times in which I meet you are critical and perilous: There requires much good Wiſdom to adviſe, and much true Spirit to actuate what is determin'd. The War is no longer about a Boundary, whether the French Uſurpations ſhall extend to this or that Mountain, this or that River; but whether the French ſhall wreſt from the Britiſh Hands the Power of Trade; whether they ſhall drive us out of this Continent; And this War is now brought to a Criſis that muſt determine the future and perhaps the final Fates of the Britiſh or French Government: If our Colonies and Trade are ruin'd, where is our Naval Power? If our Fleets become inferior, where is our Dominion? And if our Naval Dominion is loſt, Great-Britain is no more a free Government, and the Britiſh Colonies no more a People.

This Country was from the Beginning a Colony of Soldiers; and did not uſe to draw the Sword in vain. It has ſtood thus long; and thus glorioufly: That it may not therefore, when it's Liberty and Life is attacked, now draw the Sword in vain and become at laſt a Prey to the inveterate and abhorred Enemy, it is my Duty to recommend to you, and, I make no doubt, you will think it your Duty, to provide by an effectual Law:

That when it ſhall become neceſſary for the Country by it's SUPREME MAGISTRATE to call upon the Service of thoſe, whoſe Service it has a Right to demand, it may be ſure of a real and effectual Service.

That when an Enemy is in the Country and coming upon us, your Arm'd Force may go forth to meet and repel that Enemy, where ſuch can be beſt oppoſed; and not wait till he comes to our own Door, and makes (which Heaven forbid!) this Province the Seat of War.

That when the Forces of the Country are call'd forth and form'd into an Army, it may be under ſuch an Œconomy, Order and Diſcipline, that the Defence of the Country and Protection of the People may be ſurely and ſafely intruſted in it's Hands.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Repreſentatives,

With you, Gentlemen, as the Voice of the People, do originate thoſe Supplies that muſt enable the Government to execute it's ſeveral Powers within itſelf; and to take ſuch effectual Meaſures as may ſecure and protect it from without: You will therefore be pleas'd, with a juſt Senſe of the Dignity of this Government, with a tender Regard to the Abilities of the Province, and with a thoroughly convinc'd Conſcience of the almoſt deſperate Condition it's Safety and Being is brought into, Grant ſuch Supplies.

And it is with great Satisfaction I do here obſerve That true Spirit wherewith you do this Year, as in all Times paſt, ſupport a great Armament, both by Land and Sea, employ'd in the Defence of his Majeſty's Subjects and Dominions, the People and Provinces of this Land: It is a Spirit that ever did diſtinguiſh this Province, and muſt ever do it Honour in the Sight of its King and Country.

Gentlemen, I have, and hope I alway ſhall have, a very tender Senſe of the heavy Taxes that this long harraſs'd Province labours under; but at this Criſis, and on this Occaſion, as your Mother Country, tho' under the ſame heavy Burthen, tho' under impending Danger at her own Door, has ſent out hither a noble and powerful Armament; You will do your Part in Aid and Aſſiſtance to the Service; in Aid and Aſſiſtance to the Fleet and Army that are engag'd in it: What Aſſiſtance the Navy does at preſent require you will ſee in the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary PITT's Letter, and his Excellency Vice-Admiral HOLBOURNE's Letter, which I have ordered to be laid before you.

The very dangerous Circumſtances I found this Country in upon my Arrival: The Aid and Aſſiſtance that his Majeſty's Forces required: The unfortunate and alarming Events that have ſince happen'd; will appear to you from the Papers I have ordered to be laid before you; as alſo what Meaſures I did immediately take thereupon. The Protection of the People is the firſt, neceſſary, and ſupreme Law of all States. It becomes, in Caſes of ſuch immediate and imminent Danger, a Duty in the Governor, of abſolute and indiſpenſible Obligation, to take Care for the Safety and Preſervation of the Country; I took the Advice of his Majeſty's Council in every Meaſure; and I hope you will find nothing engag'd in, but what abſolute Neceſſity requir'd; and that you will provide for ſuch accordingly; as alſo, that you will think of ſuch further Means as ſhall enable me really and truly to do my Duty in the Defence of the Country.

By the Bleſſing of God in ſo juſt a Cauſe as our Arms are engag'd in, and by ſuch prudent Meaſures as ſhall appear adviſable to be taken, we may hope to command a Peace that will ſecure our Liberties; if we cannot, it little matters what we have, or what we ſave; we but ſave it for our Maſters.

Gentlemen of the Council and Houſe of Repreſentatives,

As I have on this Occaſion call'd upon you, I would hope that you conceive of me as determin'd, by my indiſpenſible Duty, to engage, to the utmoſt of my Power and Abilities, in every Service wherein the Intereſt, Honour or Safety of the Province is concerned.

Council-Chamber, Aug. 16, 1757. A.M. T. POWNALL.

Auguſt 29. The Report we had laſt Week of the Hertford Privateer's being taken by two French Frigates, is now confirmed by ſeveral Veſſels from the Weſt-Indies.——Bad News from every Quarter where we have any Concerns.

Since our laſt ſeveral Veſſels are arrived here from Halifax; by them we learn, that Lord LOUDOUN was failed for New-York, with a Squadron of Men of War under Commodore Rous in the Winchelſea, and a great Number of Tranſports, having on board eight Battalions of his Majeſty's Troops.

The Maſters of theſe Veſſels give a moſt wretched Account of the Markets of Halifax, viz. That all Sorts of Freſh Proviſions were ſo plenty, that they would fetch ſcarcely any Thing: That a good Sheep ſold for Half a Crown, and other Fleſh Meat in Proportion.

We hear that a great Number of Privateers are ſtill cruizing near the Iſlands, and have taken ſeveral Northern Veſſels.

Capt. Gafney from London, failed from Torbay Thurſday July the 7th, under Convoy of the Cambridge Man of War of 80 Guns, Commodore Moore, with four more Ships of the Line, two Frigates, and 30 Sail of Merchantmen, 26 of which were bound to the Weſt-Indies with the Convoy. Sunday the 10th a Twenty Gun Ship joined the Fleet about ſix o'Clock in the Morning, who immediately ſpoke with the Commodore; upon which the whole Fleet brought to for about two Hours, when the 20 Gun Ship parted with the Fleet, as did likewiſe two Ships of the Line of our Convoy, ſteering away N. E. and by E.—— Wedneſday the 14th, judging ourſelves far enough to the Southward, and pretty clear of the Enemy, with Conſent of the Commodore we parted with the Convoy, in Company with the following Veſſels, viz. Snow Irene, Capt. Jacobſon, of New-York; Ship Nancy, Handſtobb, for Virginia; being then in Lat. 44: 30, and Lon. 11: 23, from the Meridian of London.—Friday the 15th, about 6 o'Clock A.M. being then in Lat. 41: 42, and Lon. 19: 7, ſaw ſix Sail of large Ships to the Northward of us, ſtanding Eaſtward, which with the the Help of a good Spy Glass made pretty plain, and from the Colour of their Canvas, and other Circumstances, believe they were a Fleet of French Merchantmen, and hope they will fall in with Admiral Boscawen, who is now cruizing in the Bay of Biscay, and off Cape Finisterre.

Extract of a Letter from Halifax, dated August 5.

"—I have to acquaint you, That Yesterday arrived here a Schooner, being dispatched by the Captain of the Gosport Man of War at Newfoundland, to Admiral Holbourne, which informs, that the Gosport had taken a Schooner bound home to Old France from Louisburg, and by Letters found on board her, it was learnt, that there were 17 Line of Battle Ships and 5 or 6 Frigates, with 7 or 8000 Land Forces, in Louisburg.

"Our Men of War are all gone out, in order, if possible, to bring the French Fleet to an Engagement.

"Some People say the French have 4 Ships of 80 Guns, and none less than 64 at Cape-Breton.

"This Day the Windsor of 60 Guns, and Granado Bomb, joined the Fleet, having sent in a Ship and Snow, two Prizes."

NEW-YORK, September 5.

Last Wednesday Morning his Excellency JONATHAN BELCHER, Esq; Governor of New-Jersey, departed this Life, at Elizabeth-Town. The Administration of that Government devolves upon the Hon. JOHN READING, Esq;

Friday last arrived here the Brig Bell-Savage, Capt. Lewis, from Cork, and informs, That he sail'd from thence the 30th of June, in Company with eighteen Sail of Transports, having on board 2500 Highlanders, five Sail loaded with Powder and Ball, and seventeen Sail of Merchantmen for the West-Indies, Philadelphia, and Boston; all under Convoy of the Enterprize Man of War of 40 Guns, the Faulkland of 50 Guns, and the Stork Sloop of 10 Guns; and that on July 25, in Lat. 35 North, and Long. 30 West, he left the Convoy.

Thursday Morning last several Vessels arrived here from Halifax, under Convoy of his Majesty's Ships the Sutherland, Captain Falkingham, of 50 Guns; Winchelsea, Captain Hale, and Kennington, Captain Digg, of 20 Guns each; with the Jamaica Sloop, Captain Thompson; and Hawke Bomb, Captain Bradley:——They all sailed from Halifax the 16th of August, in Company with Rear Admiral Holbourne, in his Majesty's Ship the Newark, of 80 Guns; Rear Admiral Hardy, in the Invincible of 74 Guns, and sixteen other Ships of the Line, who went to cruize off Louisburg.——

Saturday last a small English Schooner, belonging to Boston, was sent in here by the Privateer Ship Oliver Cromwell, Captain Nickols, of this Port, having Contraband Goods on board.

PHILADELPHIA, September 8.

We hear from Barbados, that five French Indiamen were arrived at Martinico in a very sickly Condition, and had lost a great many of their Hands on the Passage.

Yesterday arrived here the Privateer Blakeney, of Barbados, Captain Moses Minshall, from a Cruise. On the 27th ult. in Lat. 37, he spoke with Capt. Benson, in a Snow from Whitehaven for Maryland, and Capt. Lowndes, in a Ship from Liverpool for Virginia, both out about 17 Weeks.

Our Accounts, in general, from the Frontiers, are most sad; all agreeing that some of the Inhabitants are killed or carried off, Houses burnt, and Cattle destroyed daily; and that at the same Time they are afflicted with a severe Sickness, and die fast; so that in many Places they are neither able to defend themselves when attacked, nor to run away.
